1. Learn about cover letters
2. Understand the basic structure of a cover letter
3. Analyze what to include and exclude in a cover letter
4. Create a cover letter

ACTIVITIES

Content Knowledge

Have students log in to MEFA Pathway and navigate to the My Resume under the About Me tab. If students do not currently have a completed resume within their MEFA Pathway account, allocate 10-15 minutes for students to fill out the sections within My Resume.

Make sure students have created an objective and added qualifications, employment, education, honors and awards, activities, skills, and certifications that they want to appear on a resume.

Next, explain to students the purpose of a resume.

PART 2

Applying Information

Now that students have a completed resume, introduce cover letters. Ask the students if they have ever heard of a cover letter and what they think it entails. Explain to the students that a cover letter:

- Is a one-page document that introduces a job seeker's work history, professional skills, and personal interest in applying for a job.
- Is a potential employer's first impression of the applicant.
- Can be one of the most vital parts of an application.
- Will vary depending on who the audience is and the type of job being sought.

PART 2

Applying Information

Generally, cover letters should be short but to the point. Now that students have an idea of what a cover letter is and the types of characteristics to include and exclude, explain that a cover letter has three essential parts:

1. An opening: expresses interest in the job
2. A middle: explains why an applicant is right for the job
3. A closing: restates an applicant's interest in the job, describes what documents accompany the cover letter, and notates how an employer can reach the applicant

PART 3

Evaluating Information

As a class, have students identify whether the sentences below belong in the opening, middle, or closing paragraph of the cover letter, or if they don't belong at all.

Use the answer key at the end of this lesson for the discussion.

1. With this letter is a copy of my resume. I can also provide you with references from past receptionist jobs.
2. I saw your advertisement online for a receptionist position at your office. I am very interested in the job.
3. I enjoy working with the general public and having a friendly, positive attitude, and can represent the company well.
4. I had to move back home to take care of sick family. I really need this job for the money.

PART 4

Critical Thinking/Creative Application

Now that students have an understanding of cover letters, students should create their own cover letter. Below is a job posting found by a fictional student named Naomi. Have students write a three-paragraph cover letter for the job posting. Remind students that they will need to include an opening, middle, and closing paragraph.

Naomi found this job posting in her local newspaper:

Receptionist for local hair salon needed. Applicant must be computer literate, comfortable working with the public, and highly organized. Previous receptionist experience preferred, but not required. This job is full time and includes benefits and great pay. Applications without a cover letter will not be considered. Please send cover letter and resume to info@receptionistjob.com

1. With this letter is a copy of my resume. I can also provide you with references from past receptionist jobs.

Closing Paragraph: This sentence brings the applicant's cover letter to a close as well as refers to the resume the applicant included.

Opening Paragraph: The opening paragraph introduces the applicant to the employer and also allows the applicant to express interest in the job

3. I enjoy working with the general public and having a friendly, positive attitude and can represent the company well.

Middle Paragraph: In the middle paragraph, the applicant can describe to the potential employer qualities that make him or her the best person for the job—essentially what the applicant brings to the table.

Does not belong: This kind of personal information generally is not needed or appropriate to include in a cover letter.
